HOAGLAND'S NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING! W. E. COOPER HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter engage in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive Carriage Factory, Corner of Second and Morrison Streets. He respectfully refers to the following CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H H Hoagland we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used. It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs carriage horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure. It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, hereto fore considered the best in use.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN]

DATES TO SEPTEMBER 25

Washington News

WASHINGTON, Sept 24—The monthly report of the Department of Agriculture for August says of corn 'Unless the close of the season is very favorable, there must be a hundred and fifty millions bushels less than a full crop. Cotton will be reduced in the yield, from the Carolinas to Alabama and there will be a material increase from Missouri to Texas. The probabilities at present favor a yield of two and three quarter millions of bales. The wheat crop as a whole is larger. The only States showing a decrease is Illinois Michigan, Iowa and California. Fruits have yielded abundantly apples in a less degree than other species.'

Koopmanshap had an interview with Secretary Boutwell to day. The latter stated that the Department had no intention of interfering with the scheme of Chinese immigration unless the law was violated. Koopmanshap left this evening for Memphis and New Orleans thence to attend the Louisville Commercial Convention.

There are no developments to-day on the Cuban question beyond the report that it was mentioned in the Cabinet meeting and a telegram read from Minister Sickles in reference to the respectful declination of the Spanish Government of the proposed mediation of the United States. There is no question pending between the two countries directly concerning the war in Cuba.

Frauds by Jobbers on the Officials in New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept 24—The Picayune says investigations have been in progress for some time in the Custom House, of the books, as far back as Kellogg's regime. It is discovered that during Kellogg's administration large frauds were perpetrated in a manner so bold and flagrant that it would be an insult to the intelligence of officials then in office to suppose they were not cognizant of the fabts. Vessels of comparatively small tonnage, have cleared from this port, with cargoes apparently of whisky, on manifests, that ships of three or four times their capacity would not have stowed away. Imaginary merchants of Honolulu and Greenland have received on paper many such consignments which in reality were sent west or put into the market here.

The Test Oath in Virginia

RICHMOND, Sept. 24—General Canby has printed his correspondence with prominent Virginians in respect to the test oath. The letters show that as early as the 10th of June, a month before the election, he in reply to letters of inquiry, announced his intention of requiring the oath of members of the Legislature.

The Great "Bull" Operation in the Gold Market.

NEW YORK Sept. 24—The excitement in the gold room this morning resulted in an absolute panic. The price rose rapidly from 137½ to 138. The bulls offered to settle with shorts at about 135 few, however, accepted, being intensely anxious to bear if something could not be done at Washington. Urgent remonstrances having been made to the President and Secretary of the Treasury, but not a word came. While the "bears" were waiting the "bulls" were carrying the prices up to 162. About noon, the shorts surrendering all hope, began to accept the offers of settlement. Some of the operators lost heavily. The "shorts" compromised on a basis of 148@150. About noon an order came from the Secretary of the Treasury to sell to-morrow, $4 000,000 of gold, and purchase an amount of bonds. The order, however came after the main operations of the "bull" had been consummated, when there was a sudden drop to 134. The speculation culminated, without one effort to compel part of the extraordinary rates for borrowers. The "bull" clique claim that they have made eleven millions from their operation. The enormous transactions in the gold room produced a complete block in the business of the gold exchange. The banks found it impossible to make all their clearances within the usual hours and several firms have been forced into temporary suspension, with serious embarrassments to the whole market. On Wednesday the business amounted to three hundred and twenty and a half millions, and to-days transactions have largely exceeded that amount.

Duel at St. Louis.

ST LOUIS, Sept 24—A duel was fought in this city yesterday, between Baron Alfeldt, of Holstein, and Col Sunst, editor of a German newspaper. One shot was exchanged but nobody was hurt, and the matter was amicably settled.

Abscond and Bank Clerk.

HAMILTON, (C W.) Sept. 24—Considerable excitement was occasioned this morning in the banking circles by the absconding of Mr. Gates ledger keeper of the bank of Montreal. He is reported to have taken $50,000 obtained by certified checks, and gone to the United States.

Race between Dexter and Lady Thorne.

NEW YORK Sept. 24—It is understood that Robert Bonner has consented to trot Dexter against Lady Thorne, next week at Prospect Park Grounds. The entire proceeds will go to the benefit of the Avondale sufferers. Spectators are expected to be present. The admission fee will be a dollar.

It is stated that an expedition of 3 000 men got off from Cedar Keys Florida, for Cauba on the 14th.

Fatal Accident at Niagara Falls.

NIAGARA FALLS N Y Sept. 24—A party of one gentleman and four ladies all belonging to Providence, Rhode Island after viewing the sights on this side crossed over to the Canada side. While the carriage was crossing the curve opposite the precipice, in front of the Clifton House the horses became unmanageable, and it was evident that they would go over the bank. The driver and Mr Tillinghast of Providence jumped off and escaped with slight injuries and the carriage, together with the four ladies, went down the bank fifty feet. Mrs Mahala Smith was horribly mangled and instantly killed. Miss Ann Bullon was dangerously injured and cannot recover. Mrs Tillinghast and Mrs Fisher were badly bruised but not dangerously. The accident happened while an inquest was held on the body of a man who had committed suicide at the same place a day or two previous.

Cuban Affairs.

CHICAGO, Sept 24—A Washington special says that advices from Cuba are discouraging to the Revolutionists. They say two Cuban Generals have been assassinated, which compelled Cespedes to take command of the army. Serious trouble is apprehended from the American element in Cuba. The assassination of General Marmo, it is said, was caused by want of confidence by the Cubans.

NEW YORK, Sept 25—The Junta is blamed by the Americans who have gone to Cuba under its auspices.

The Late Panic in Wall Street

CHICAGO Sept 25—A Times' New York special says a crowd proceeded to the office of Smith, Gould Martin & Co., during the Wall Street excitement yesterday but the active efforts of the police prevented its doing gutted. The crowd seized Fisk Jr and threatened to hang him but he was rescued with no other damage than a black eye. The crowd continued in the streets at a late hour and the presence of a large body of police was necessary to preserve order. The same special says secretary Boutwell is severely denounced in all strictly mercantile circles by both Republicans and Democrats. His refusal to sell gold last night and sell on to day after the bears have been forced to settle and the market had begun to decline, is counted good evidence that he was in the bull clique who's operations have brought the whole country to a stand still. It is probable the whole matter will be investigated by the Chamber of Commerce. It is proposed to call a meeting of merchants to denounce and demand his removal but other counsels prevailed. It is noted that when gold was at its highest it was impossible to sell a small amount at quoted rates. The highest price paid over the counter was 152½, little was done over 148. Another account of the movement is this. It was discovered that two or three of the members of the combination which has been working for a rise secretly sold gold in large amounts on speculative account thinking that their defection would thwart the purposes of the remainder of the combination. The balance saw this, and determined to punish them and the rise this forenoon was in pursuance of that determination.

A Tribune's special, dated at New York last night, thinks yesterday's transactions will reach $500,000,000. Many of the 'bears' refuse to settle on the ground that the 'bulls' knew the action of the Government and had conspired with Jay Cooke and others having influence at Washington City. There will be much trouble growing out of this matter and the bears who request a settlement lose standing among gold gamblers in the future. A serious feature of the day is that the losses are not confined to the bear side though it is probable that the bears are the heaviest sufferers.

A Tribune special says the corner in gold was manipulated by Wm Woodward Jas Gould Jas Fisk Jr, Marvin Bros & Co Smith Gould, Martin & Co, and other prominent operators. Smith, Martin & Co suffered very heavily. It is reported they have failed but their names were not officially in the gold room to day. Jay Gould and Jas Fisk have probably lost heavily, from having bought largely when gold was above 150 and not having sold before it tumbled to about 130. Other failures are reported but it is impossible to ascertain what houses have actually fallen.

Wm Belden a shipper, Galloway Hunter & Co. and A H Williams were brought into the gold room and their failures officially declared. The houses of Chas McClure & Co, Wm Heath & Co, N W. Walter, Mr Gumberal and C K Williams are among the reported failures.

Barlog Bros telegraphed to Duncan, Sherman & Co that they could use $10,000,000 in speculation. The latter firm obtained that amount from the Assistant Treasurer, on the strength of their credit, and need it for breaking the strength of the "bull" clique. There was much confusion among the brokers, for the reason that the Gold Exchange Bank was unable to settle the balances due from the Bank to brokers. Several firms were thus forced into temporary suspension, who claim that they are perfectly solvent, but some confess that they do not know how they stand, and may not be able to meet their obligations to-morrow.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE

The Guardian says: A manuscript in Lord Byron's own handwriting, will soon be published by Mrs. Stowe.

The Standard says whatever her legitimate claims to Cuba may be Spain labors under the disadvantage of having to prosecute them in the face of the susceptibility of the American people. While she herself is in a condition of revolution, the Americans cannot wink for anything but that Cuba shall be free to choose whether she remains with Spain or becomes an independent Republic. That material assistance will be rendered Cuba through sympathy which Americans feel for her, cannot be doubted. But if the sympathizers should demand war it would be the most anomalous and extraordinary conflict ever seen.

MANNERS.—Young folks should be mannerly. How to do so is the question. Many a good boy and girl feel that they cannot behave to suit themselves in the presence of company. They feel timid bashful, and self distrustful the moment they are addressed by a stranger or appear in company. There is but one way to get over this feeling and acquire graceful and easy manners that is to do the best they can all the time at home, as well as abroad. Good manners are not learned from arbitrary teachings so much as acquired from habit. They grow upon us by use. We must be courteous agreeable civil kind get themanly and womanly at home and then it will soon become a kind of second nature to be so everywhere. A coarse rough manner at home begets a habit of roughness, which we cannot lay off if we try when we go among strangers. The most agreeable people we have ever known in company are those that are perfectly agreeable at home. Home is the school for all best things especially for good manners.

DURABILITY OF MULBERRY WOOD.—The Country Gentleman says the mulberry of Asia Minor which is probably the morus nigra is eminent for extreme vitality of root and durability of wood. Not only the mummy cases of Egypt, on which the marks of the workmen's tools are still sharply distinct, but the beams in the still more ancient palace of Nimrod at Nineveh are declared by Mr Layard to be mulberry. That paper then asks whether any one has experimented with our American black mulberry wood.

A competent Treasury official has made the following estimate of internal revenue tax collections for the fiscal year ending June 1870. From spirits $40 000 000 from tobacco cigars and snuff $30 000 000, from income etc $35,000 000, from stamps $17 000 000 from all other sources, $40 000 000 total 167 000,000.

MONDAY MORNING SEPT 27 1869

Pendleton s Veracity

That speech of Pendleton s of which the telegraph gave us a synopsis that greatly cheered the drooping spirits of the repudiators of Oregon is printed in full in the papers which reach us by overland mail We have examined it with some care for the purpose of ascertaining from this acknowledged Democratic authority just what the position of that party is at this juncture of affairs There is little new matter in the speech, but what there is is more false if possible than the old doctrines which its author has been uttering for the last three or four years The speech relates almost entirely to finances, and the falsities it presents are susceptible of exact arithmetical demonstration For instance he had the hardihood to deny that the public debt is decreasing and pretended to sustain his denial by figures We present a portion of his remarks on this head

Governor Hayes congratulates himself that in six months the debt has been diminished $50 000,000 He says the debt on the 1st of March was $2 581,000 000, and on the 1st of September was $2,471,000,000 Why, gentlemen every other Secretary thought the Pacific Railroad bonds were a part of the public debt. Chase and McCulloch always included them They amount to $64 000 000 Add these to the $2 481 000 000 and the total appears to be $2 545 000 000, or $20,000,000 more than in March Figures won't lie, may be a very true saying but they can be so turned and twisted that they convey to us commonpeople, who are not Secretaries, but only tax-payers, a very false impression

That all this is false as provable to a certainty. An examination of the official figures, given by the Secretaries of the Treasury, will show that this Democratic champion is not above the vice of lying On March 1st according to the statement of Secretary McCulloch, the debt amounted to $2,545,336,904. This, however, included the Pacific Railroad Bonds, which amounted to $53,937,000 But it did not include interest then due, which amounted to $39,667,580. By McCulloch's method of stating the debt, the accrued interest at each monthly date was not computed and added to the principal, but by Boutwell s method it is in every case so computed and added. Of course Boutwell s method is the only exact way of stating the actual indebtedness of the country Taking the figures above given, and we find that the debt on the 1st March stood as follows

Principal, including Pacific Railroad Bonds,	$2 545 336 904
Accrued interest, one March 1st,	39 667 580
Total debt, March 1st,	$2,585,004 484
Deduct Pacific Railroad Bonds	53 937,000
Debt less bonds of interest and exclusive of Pacific Railroad Bonds,	$2,531 067,484

The difference between McCulloch s and Boutwell s method of stating the debt is simply this, viz McCulloch included in his statements, the Pacific Railroad Bonds, but did not include accrued interest not paid, while Boutwell includes the accrued interest but does not include the Pacific railroad bonds. The sum expressed in the last line of the figures above given is a statement of the debt as it would have appeared on the 1st March under Boutwell s plan,—that is, with the accrued interest added and the Pacific railroad bonds deducted We are now prepared to see how much the debt has been reduced since that time

Actual debt March 1st, inclusive of interest and exclusive of Pacific railroad bonds	$2 531,067,484
Actual debt Sept 1st, inclusive of interest and exclusive of Pacific railroad bonds,	2,451,566,758
Net reduction in the months	$ 79,500 726

The reason why Boutwell deducts the Pacific railroad bonds is that they are not really a part of the indebtedness of the country, the companies being pledged to pay them He adds the accrued interest each month, because that is the only accurate way of stating the whole of the national indebtedness This analysis fully exposes Pendleton's falsehood Anybody capable of simple addition and subtraction can demonstrate this problem for himself. Yet this "great statesman," who lies in the presence of the whole country and attempts to give his falsities an air of plausibility in order to deceive the people, has the audacity to censure others for "twisting and twisting figures to convey a false impression!" "The pity of it, the pity of it," that the man who stands at the head of a party which is grasping for the helm of the country, is not above the hateful vice of deliberate falsehood. Such statements as Pendleton makes in the paragraph we have quoted would be unworthy even of Congressman Smith of Oregon, who is notoriously the most unscrupulous and deceptious talker of whom the people west of the Rocky mountains had any personal knowledge.

The people would do well to note carefully and analyze the statements of Democratic orators When the great Democratic champion, Pendleton, unblushingly asserts the most glaring untruths what should be expected of the small-fry orators of the party?

Business Prospects of Portland

A Victoria paper of recent date says "Parties lately from San Francisco and Portland represent those places as extremely dull. Business has fallen off perceptibly in both cities." Whatever may be said of the condition of trade in San Francisco, the above statements are not true of business in Portland They are probably the result of wild guessing; for no person having facilities for obtaining information and desirous of stating facts, would have blundered so egregiously The truth is, Portland is now enjoying a better and more extensive trade than she ever before possessed. More goods are being sold here this year than in any former one Our wholesale dealers, by their enterprise and liberality, are obtaining a class of trade which once went by our doors; and so complete is the change becoming that it is believed that not more than half a dozen country merchants who are supplied by way of the Columbia river, have the season gone to San Francisco for goods They find they can do better here than there, and it is gratifying to perceive that our merchants are actuated by a purpose to foster this trade and make it to the advantage of all persons within reach of Portland to buy here. Direct trade with the East is rendering very advantageous for Portland, and its benefits are being felt at large throughout the State The commerce of this city has of late been extending very considerably in all directions It is true that an occasional depression is experienced, and that complaints are sometimes heard about dull times, scarcity of money, etc but on the whole the business of Portland is exhibiting satisfactory progress, and showing many hopeful signs for the future

Father Hyacinthe of whom we hear so much of late by cable dispatches, is a monk of Paris. He says he is striving for reforms in the Catholic Church He thinks an infusion of new blood into the Church is needed, says he would give it more humanity and abolish its dead formalisms. His brethren of the priesthood call him an heretic, and he in turn holds them up to ridicule

In General

The Albany Democrat tells us that It is better that there should be not a rod of railroad in Oregon while its mountains stand than that the 14th Amendment shall become a part of the fundamental law of this country This is just what Democratic papers used to tell us about the amendment which abolished slavery

At the last session of the Fortieth Congress Postmaster General Randall reported an estimated deficiency in the appropriation for the Post Office Department for the fiscal year ending June 30 1869 of $3 700 000 The accounts for the year have been closed and Postmaster General Cresswell exhibits an unexpended balance of this appropriation of $1 500 000 This is one of the proofs of that all pervading economy and retrenchment now practiced in the administration of Government

From New York papers we learn that Southern merchants are now visiting that city in unusual numbers Basing their expectations upon the large cotton crop they are making much larger purchases than they did last fall and the jobbers are giving them longer credits Four and six months credits constitute the rule, whereas heretofore since the close of the war cash and thirty days acceptances have been the usual basis of sales All this indicates a restoration of confidence in the stability of the peace We have been so long conquering in the South and in the great wealth producing capacity of that long blasted section of our country

A story is given out that the Secretary of the Treasury is believed to be in with the "bulls" who have been producing such a commotion in the money market. The charge is founded on the reported fact that he did not order sales of gold at the moment he was called upon by the "bears to do so This is absurd It is well known that since Boutwell became Secretary the affairs of the Treasury have been carried on without reference to private speculations in gold. He orders sales of certain sums of gold every week and notice is given both of the time and amount of these sales Nobody therefore, can be ignorant of the operations of the Treasury

The beauties of modern Democracy were fittingly illustrated at the California Theater in San Francisco recently Two wealthy, respectable and educated Chinese merchants of that city entered a private box on the floor of the gallery, when the roughs present commenced a tirade of abuse toward them which threatened serious results The manager, Mr Lawrence Barrett, made his appearance and said that all well-behaved and respectable persons might come to his theater Thus announcement received the approval of all decent people present and for a time the blackguards were silent In the meantime the Chief of Police was acquainted with the facts, and a force of policemen were sent to the theater, and stationed about the gallery The Chinese were intruding upon nobody, were annoying nobody, were sitting in a private box which they had paid for, and had as good a right where they were as any one in the house But Democracy was, of course, terribly insulted. Poor injured Democracy! If there is anything in the world more bigoted and brutal than this low, ignorant unreasoning race prejudice, it has not yet made its appearance We notice that the Herald howls through half a column in defending the action of the roughs of San Francisco in this brutality

A Remarkable Glacier

A correspondent of the New York Herald with Dr Hayes exploring party, describes an enormous glacier in South Greenland The sea front of the glacier is more than a mile and a half in extent, the center projecting in a circular form into the bay presenting a nearly perpendicular wall from the water's edge of two hundred feet in hight and extending back many miles into the interior The party spent several days in exploring and taking photographic views of the glacier, their ship the Panther, being anchored in a safe harbor near by While engaged in this work, July 22d, they were favored with a display seldom witnessed by visitors to Greenland namely the discharge of a large iceberg from the glacier The scene is thus described by the correspondent

"At first we heard the premonitory growl generally given by the glacier previous to a heavy discharge and all eyes were immediately turned towards it, but, strange to say no disruption appeared to be in progress One of the highest peaks about 500 feet back from the water, had disappeared however and we concluded that its falling into one of the deep crevices made the noise just heard, but we scarcely had time to comment upon the circumstance when we heard another roar like a thousand long continued distant thunders, seeming to come like a deep groan from the heart of the glacier in its agony of travail In a few seconds the water came boiling up from the bottom in front of the glacier like a mighty caldron, into which great masses of ice began to fall, which as they plunged, sank and rose again, whirling around, one after the other in erratic motion, gave increased power to the illusion that they were in the midst of a seething pot.

Meanwhile the roaring continued, and in a few seconds more a section of the glacier's front, about 300 yards in extent and half the distance in depth was in motion, swaying backward and forward with a gentle motion at first, and then, with an increased thundering plunged bodily into the sea The whole mass at once submerged, but soon re appeared rushing up until its summit was at least 200 feet above the water's edge, while from its rugged sides were pouring a thousand cascades and streams, which, combined with the waving motion of the mass, gave it the appearance of some mighty sea monster shaking his shaggy head in sport

The swell caused by this avalanche was tremendous seriously endangering the ship, though she was a mile away from it, and breaking completely over rocks from twenty to thirty feet high It was more than an hour before this detached berg settled down into anything like quietness being then about 100 feet high But this did not last long for from some unknown cause, it broke into three large fragments, which floated away, with their highest peaks from fifty to seventy five feet high, while the whole surface of the fiord was covered with innumerable fragments, of all shapes and sizes from a few pounds to a few hundred tons in weight We suppose that the fall of the high pinnacle referred to (which may have been a thousand tons or more in weight), gave a shock that split off this huge mass, the disruption of which we viewed from an elevated position and though imperfectly described here it was a scene to be impressed on our memories and will not soon be forgotten"

REMARKABLE RIVER AND ECHO Colonel Powell, in letters describing his explorations of the Colorado river, says that at a point where the Yampa river enters the Green the river runs along a rock about seven feet high and a mile long then turns sharply to the right and runs back parallel to its former course for another mile with the opposite side of this long, narrow rock for its bank. On the east side of the river, opposite the rock and below the Yampa is a little park just large enough for a farm The river has worn out hollow domes in this sandstone rock, and standing opposite, words are repeated with a strange clearness, but in a softened, mellow tone Conversation in a loud key is transformed into magical music One can hardly believe that it is echo of his own voice In some places two or three echoes come back, in others the echoes themselves are repeated passing forth and back across the river for there is another rock making the eastern wall of the little park Some thought they could count ten or twelve tones

Sept 27.—Legal Tender rates.....133@
New York Gold Quotations.....

To the "Enterprise."—Greeting.—The Enterprise of Oregon City seems to have "gone clean daft" on the "Chinese question." The mere mention of a Chinaman sets it to "mouthing,"—we believe that is what Major Adams calls it. Alluding to a statement which we made the other day, to the effect that the negroes and Chinamen who keep the "den" on Alder street in this city are no worse than the whites who patronize it," and that they are all "on a level together," the Enterprise exclaims! "On a common level with all the vile and filthy! "On a common level with all the vile and filthy inferior races, is the 'progressive' motto' of the Radical party. Had that den been kept by white men instead of negroes and Chinamen, would the Oregonian have failed to see why the keepers were any worse than those who frequented it? An answer is respectfully solicited. This is the second homicide which has occurred in this city within a few months, and it naturally leads to the conclusion that it is a very rough place, and that better class of community condemn it as such. But then, it is kept by negroes and Chinamen, and that fact has enlisted the sympathy of the Oregonian in its favor, and caused it to apparently lose sight of its heinous character." Since the Enterprise wants to make this a political question, we can inform it that the parties in this homicide at this "den" were members of the political party to which it belongs, and further, that most of the white people who frequent the place are members of the same political party. That paper, we suppose, holds that its political brethren who congregate there are far above the level of the negroes and Chinese whom they so much wish,—else why the testy and resentful remark in regard to our statement that they all are on a common level! What we said about the "den" on a former occasion grew out of some remarks that we heard on the street, to the effect that the place should be suppressed because it is kept by negroes and Chinese. It may be that it should be suppressed; but if so, that is no reason why other place of like disreputable and dangerous character should not be suppressed too, no matter what the color of the keepers is. Attempts to shield or raise an outcry against it simply because it is a "nigger saloon," and the mere assertion that the whites who frequent it, even if they are members of the Enterprise's party, are no better than the negroes and Chinese whom they associate with. We do not "lose sight of the peculiar character" of the place alluded to, nor do we lose sight of the "character" of the white class who visit it, and who form the most of its patronage. We cannot quite see the point in condemning in negroes and Chinese conduct which, in the "superior race," is passed by with—

Iron Works.—The steamer Carrie is lying at the Iron Works, undergoing repairs.

A book, printed in 1857, has been presented to the Portland Library by Mr. Holliday.

Chamberlain, of Salem, was in this city on Saturday, en route for the Insane Asylum.

Jeff Mosher has had the city jail repainted and whitewashed.

A lady, the other evening, at Mrs. St. Clair's house, drew a prize, a $50 silver watch.

Parties are engaged in laying down new water mains in several of our streets. A total of two miles of mains will be laid before this fall.

Mr. Wm. Sallee has recently sold 25 head of Cotswold sheep for the sum of $200.

The Argus says there is private intelligence that the steamer to this port will be the Montana.

The Agricultural Fair will open to-morrow. The Washington County Fair one week from to-day.

The yield of wheat at Albany last week amounted to 40,000 bushels. It is quoted in that

It is said that the skeleton man and the "bearded lady" on exhibition here, have purchased a lot in this city.

The Upper Columbia steamboat and stage companies have agreed to reduce fare, half price, the representatives to the Grand Lodge of Good Templars which will meet at Vancouver next week.

John Whiteaker, attorney in attendance upon the Supreme Court at Salem, says the court is getting along "exceedingly well."

The Supreme Court.—The following are the proceedings of Saturday, as given by the decisions:

John Whiteaker, vs. Kelly, the P. T. Co and Argyle, appeal from Clackamas county.

Motion to dismiss appeal, undivided half of a tract of land in the Willamette Valley, to the payment of a claim of $2,000 and interest, growing out of the assignment of a note for the purchase money, which mortgage was for a sum of money paid down to the mortgagee, by original assignment to have a new mortgage executed for $9,000, which was

Will Sizer.—A correspondent at Oak Point writes the following: As there is considerable inquiry valley, I will give you some few items I have visited this valley six times, the valley at five different places. We were land and prospecting for gold and the Nehalem and Necanicum rivers until we came to the crossing military road, which is at the lower end of the timbering time from where we launched our At the crossing we took "walker's to Astoria. The valley is between 30 and wide, principally and alder, crab-apple, vine-maple hazel, very open and easy cleared. In timber, groves of soft maple covering The Nehalem river is about 300 from one to five miles apart. The four to ten feet deep between the rapids from one to two The water is reddish of the Miss Lampi river. The bottom We found several ledges which I think would be excellent for We also found a large ledge of iron, quartz and a small vein of found several pieces of coal that had washed down by the current. We found a good place to build opened from the settlement on the river (opposite Oak Point mills) the valley, distance ten miles. I was informed that Mr. West had twelve men cutting a road in the valley from Westport."

Hogs Outside.—There is an old ordinance forbidding swine to allow them to run at large Of late, however, their have been hogs at large, committing all sorts of and they have become an intolerable nuisance. Complaints come from every quarter of the subject, and numbers some days ago concluded to put a stop upon these pests and to impound them in the streets. Casey Charly had a lot on Saturday, and, of course, owners were in a great ferment of surprise and rage—as to their right to inflict their pests upon their property. One went so far as to assault Charley Quinn, but went no further. Charley had a lot of hogs to the pound. Owners who allow their hogs have a right, and it is willfully negligent as to allow their animals to run at large, they ought to have more sense than and pay the assault and battery dodge. In the future they are sure to be losers.

The Enterprise says: "The location of the Railroad bridge has been changed, recommended by Mr. Medly, Superintendent of that work, in commemoration of an event of importance in the family of his employer, Mr. Ladd, no less than that of the 21st anniversary of the birth of his son Joseph Holladay. The lady who had one of her lower limbs broken by the Christmas tent on Monday evening last, was given $40 by the same person, the treasurer of the company on the day following, and visited the Penitentiary.

Judge Strahan, of the Supreme Court took a hotday and visited the Penitentiary.

The Argus says: "A train of seven heavily loaded passed through town yesterday, en route county. If the people of that region can and cheaper goods that have paid such a will they not accomplish when by railroad they have a fair show?"

The annual Conference of the United Brethren in will convene at the Hopeful Church, two miles west Yamhill county, on Wednesday, September All friends of religion are respectfully invited Rev. Bishop Weaver, of Ohio, will be in Steamer Sold.—The steamer Ana was sold on the 23d by the U. S. Marshal, and was bought in by the Long Tom Navigation Co. She was built for the Upper Snake river trade, but was subsequently brought down the Columbia and has been plying between Portland and Oregon city; above the falls, since which time she has had several different owners, having been sold for debts and taken for debt. Her present owners purchased her between Carvallis and the head of navigation on the Long Tom.

The grand ball, under the auspices of the Hebrew Benevolent Association, will take place at Philharmonic Hall. We are requested by to state that the tickets are not transferable, and will admit only the persons to whom they Reservation Wanted.—Superintendent Meacham wants a reservation of blankets and 4,000 yards of heavy for the Indian Department. Bids will be received till the 8th day of October.

Supreme Court.—The Statesman of Saturday says: "In Supreme Court, the case of the State of Oregon vs. Ellis, the Court intimated to the counsel that they should argue the question touching the jurisdiction of the Court below. Ellis, appellant, was bound over by the Justice of the Peace to answer at the next term of the Circuit Court, but was tried at a special term of such court, hence the question of jurisdiction. No decisions were announced.

To New York and Back.—On the 31st August, the Oregonian printed Seward's Sitka speech, and an account of his arrival in this city. The New York Times of the 13th September, containing these articles copied from our columns, reached Portland on the 25th September. This is one of many incidents, trampling daily, which shows that it is but a very little journey to New York and back.

Services at the Catholic Church.—The services today, under the administration of Rev. Father Woulinger, will be: First mass, at half-past five, high mass, at half-past ten, and vespers, at seven in the evening. The Mission will close this evening, when the solemn ceremony of planting the Mission Cross will take place, after which the Papal Benediction will be given.

Locomotive for East Side Railroad.—Mr. Bowman, the chief machinist for the East Side Railroad contractor, went below on the Maxee Taylor, to superintend the shipment of two locomotives, expected to arrive about this time, overland from the East. They will probably arrive here by the next steamer but one.

Portland Library.—The following books have been added to the Portland Library: "Wandering Recollections—A somewhat busy life," an autobiography, by John Neal; "The Tennesseean in Persia and Koordistan," by Rev. Dwight W. March; "Gates Wide Open," by George Wood.

A New Medical Journal.—Dr. Carpenter, Dean of the Willamet Medical College, informs us that the Faculty will shortly enter upon the publication of a new Monthly Medical Journal. The movement is quite generally supported by the medical profession of the State.

Speculation.—We learn that some of our brokers, having private intelligence of the short "corner" operations in gold and greenbacks, realized very handsomely by purchasing greenbacks of unsuspecting parties.

The Circus.—The Great World Circus has closed its season here, after giving six performances, to full or crowded houses. It will make a short tour through the interior, play at Salem during the State Fair, and return here about the 18th of October.

Daily Papers at Albany.—Both the weekly newspapers at Albany the Register and the Democrat—announce that they will shortly issue daily papers. The boys are getting reckless.

Gone to Sea.—The schooner Alaska, bound for the Sandwich Islands, went to sea, on Friday, the 25th.

New Wholesale Grocery House, San Francisco.—We take pleasure in calling the attention of our interior merchants to the card of Phillips, Taber & Co., a new Wholesale Grocery Firm in San Francisco, which appears in our advertising columns to-day. This firm, we learn, comes into the arena of trade with large capital, experience, energy and superior facilities for doing business. The members of the firm are D. L. Phillips, formerly junior partner of the late House of Dodge & Phillips, and Jacob M. Tabor, late the popular salesman in the House of Dickinson & Dodge. These gentlemen being well known throughout Oregon, Washington and Idaho for their business qualities and strict honesty it is hardly necessary for us to bespeak for them a liberal share of the trade seeking San Francisco for supplies.

Land is often injured for years by plowing while wet. Better miss one crop than hurt the land, but better still prepare it in the fall, when, if well underdrained, there will be but little trouble in the spring even in wet seasons.

A papoose cradle, made by an Indian woman 126 years of age, is on exhibition at the Mechanics' Fair, San Francisco.

Use KANE'S IMPERIAL CONDENSED SOAP. It washes without rubbing. For sale by Allen & Lewis, Corbitt & McCleay, R. G. Sneath and all retailers.

To Hebrew Parents—Religious Instruction.—Dr. Eckman has commenced imparting religious instruction to the children of those parents who may be desirous of committing their children under the (almost paternal) care of a man whose truly religious character and simplicity have over most extraordinarily attuned his mind to that of simple childhood, and exercised a "magnetic" power over the juveniles brought within his influence which unregenerate minds can never acquire. The instructions will, till the new Synagogue will be completed, be given at the Washington Armory Hall, next building to the Portland Library. Till then, they will be given on the Sabbath and Holy days, after the close of the regular morning service.

The Life of a Miner and its Dangers.

A correspondent of the Boston Advertiser writes from the Pennsylvania coal region:

The Lehigh Navigation Company have a village at Summit, with a network of railroad, gravity road, inclined planes worked by steam power, and collieries, shafts and breakers in all directions. Under the guidance of Phillips, one of their mining engineers, a man brought up and always employed in and about the collieries, I visited their works, and was introduced to Thomas R. Williams and William Pritchard, who are both miners. They came out in their mining dress; and we sat upon a log together for a half hour. They were both from Wales, were miners, and the sons of miners. Williams had worked eighteen years for the Navigation Company, and Pritchard about six years. Pritchard is President of the Local Association, and was recommended to me by John Siney, President of the Central Association. Upon my mentioning the subject—the coal supply, strikes and wages—Williams burst out with a denunciation of the newspapers that had articles against the miners. "They talk about men's wages in cities. Have they to work like we do? We are like soldiers in the front of the battle; we have the hardest of it. The papers are running us down, and say we are lazy and quarrelsome; it isn't so; there's not a man been brought before a Justice in all the strike." He, doubtless, referred to his own community. "We are not anxious to have coal go up; but when it does, we want our share of the increase in price. We have a hard life. After a man has worked twenty years in a mine, he can stand it no longer. We buried a man a few days ago who was only forty years old. He died of the bad air in the mines."

"Was it not partly of bad whisky?" I inquired.

"No, he was temperate; he was not a drinking man. I am a temperate man myself," said Pritchard, who had answered for the deceased, and who then struck into the conversation; "I belong to the Temple of Honor, Temperance Society." He looked as if he told the truth.

"Do the miners lay up money?"

"Not much; what they earn in summer they spend in winter," said Pritchard. Williams said he owned his house, built on land leased of the company, and the lease would expire in five years.

"Have you any savings banks?"

"No; and we have no money to put into them if we had one; and if we do have any money we can leave it with the company (Lehigh Navigation Company), and it's a good company, and there's not a better in all the mines."

"We are no Mollie Maguires," said Williams; "I don't know any such men; and they say we are rebels and Copperheads; it's not true; my son went into the army, Company D of the Fifth United States Artillery; he is now working in the mines. We are true men."

"And so you came from Wales?" I asked.

"Yes; we did," said Pritchard. "And your fathers and ancestors were miners?" "Yes, they were, and my father is there still," said Pritchard. "Were they healthy people?" "Yes, always healthy." "And do you enjoy good health?" "Oh Yes," was the ready reply; but seeing the drift by the time I had it down, for I was writing all the time we were talking, Pritchard qualified it with 'but my health would have been better if I had worked above ground. We have to blast a great deal. We have to use a keg of powder every week in the breast, and a keg every three days in the gangways; that injures the health.

They both tried to blame the transportation companies for high prices. "When we made the contract," said Pritchard, "transportation was $2 23 from Mauch Chunch to Elizabethport, now it is 8; we think the transportation companies have raised prices when they need not have done so, and the blame of the high prices belongs to them. If they would do in this country as they do in England it would be well. There the price of tolls is fixed by law. Here they fix the price as they please. And the operators crowd the workingmen down on the one side and crowd up the price of coal on the other. And they say we are ignorant. We have to be; we have no time but to work. Williams said he wanted to go and see the schools opened that day, as he was a Superintendent—I think that was the term—but he had not time.

These men were said to be above the rest in intelligence, but they do not seem to be able to give an intelligent idea of their organization, nor of their grievances. Whether they nor John Siney had copies of the Constitution of the B. W. A. Society. Siney disclaimed any intention of interfering with the operators. If they desired to employ other men they might. But it is pretty well understood that not even the strong arm of the State could render secure the life of a miner who worked in violation of their rules. The miners say they do not desire the high prices, but it is certain they are unwilling to abate their demands, and anyday may see another strike. As a general thing, the miners' quarters looked very well—better, in all the anthracite region, than I have seen elsewhere. Nor did I see much intemperance or much, if any, of cases of violence.

The Ayondale Horror.

The New York World's correspondent at Avondale, gives a graphic description of the scene at the mine at the time the bodies of the dead miners were brought up from the pit. The appearance of the dead men was very singular, nearly all of them showing in their faces and on their bodies a coldness that could hardly be distinguished from the glow of health. Only one man was disfigured, and the expression on nearly all the faces was calm and peaceful, denoting that the consummation of the asphyxia was almost painless. Most of the unfortunate men were Welshmen, the number of Irishmen being very small, and but one American is known to have been in the mine. When the stains of their labor had been washed away, the spectator beheld the curling locks, the finely cut features and columnal necks and limbs peculiar to the sons of Cymri. But the sight of these dead bodies, showing neither mutilation of disease, was far less painful and terrible than the sight of the widows and fatherless children. The loud cries of grief and wails of despair which were reported to have accompanied the very first news of the disaster, had died away when the full force of the blow was felt. The widowed women sat in the homes, usually on the thresholds or near them, unmoved stern and stolid, looking out upon their neighbors or the throngs of passing strangers with a stony stare that seemed to express a wonder that the sun should shine and the rivers flow and men and women go and come, now when all that made life worth living was blotted out. The correspondent noted but two exceptions to this silent mourning, one was an Irish woman who rocked to and fro in her chair, crooning the name of her dead husband or son, and the other was a young Welsh girl whom he found writhing on the ground by the roadside, burying her face in the earth with wild, tumultuous bursts of sobbing, and broken ejaculations that she might die. From the general demeanor and temper of the miners the World's correspondent believe that dark days are soon coming for the capitalists of the mining district. The Welshmen are sullen and dogged, after their nature; the Irishmen, after their nature also, are noisy and fierce, and both classes believe that their comrades have been murdered. The Celtic portion at least are very demonstrative in their expression of this opinion, and their resentment showsitself in their demeanor towards every one not of their class and station. One grey-headed old miner who guarded the bodies of the dead, was approached by the correspondent with the request that he might be allowed facilities for learning the names of the unfortunates; the desire was civily expressed, and the proper credentials were shown, but the miner broke out fiercely—"Get their names, is it? Put on a lamp on yer hat then, and go down the shaft like a man for their names. I suppose your have to make money out o' this, God d—n ye."

WHISTLING GIRLS.—There is a proverb that

"Whistling girls and crowing hens
Always come to some bad end."

But, notwithstanding the old proverb, a writer steps forward to defend the whistling girls in this independent fashion: "Show me the girl who has the hardihood to whistle in these days, when everything seems to the hair of your head is at a discount, and I'll show you a girl that can be depended upon, and one that will not fail you in time of need, and will give you a true hearty grasp, the cordial hand shake, the warm, genuine welcome, no tip of the kid glove, and a bold 'how do you do?' who can brave danger, look toil in the face without shrinking, laugh with those that laugh, and weep with those that weep, as well as whistle with those that whistle; who can in short take the world as she finds it, rough and rugged, and not go as though she was walking on eggs' and afraid of cracking a shell, who deals in substance not in shadow. Those are the kind who have given a new reading to the proverb."

Mr. W. Beckett, who is a Republican candidate for the Ohio State Senate, has made a good retort to the ramblating Lewis D. Campbell, who is his Democratic opponent. The latter invited Mr. Beckett to hold with him joint meetings for discussion. Mr. Beckett declined for the reasons that he had never made any political speeches, and, second, that as he had lived all his life in the county and had taken an active part in all campaigns since he became a voter, his position was well understood. He added, "Perhaps, however, you had better not withdraw your appointments, as your position, to be understood, may need explanation."

VARIETIES.

An Illinois paper consoles sportsmen for the light crop of prairie chickens by remarking that it will make hunting better, for it will take longer to find them.

On the occurrence of a vacancy in the board of alderman at Danville, Illinois, a Democrat was chosen,—an event which a local Democratic paper chronicles as "something long to be remembered in old Vermillion."

The Boston Transcript sharply says: "General Butler and the Count Joannes are the only two American lawyers that have felt obliged to participate in the Byron-Stowe controversy. Both are fond of notoriety."

Pollard, in his life of Davis, speaks of Henry A. Wise as "a supreme absurdity of the war—a shallow-brained and loud-mouthed charlatan—a scare-crow, made up of buckskin jiggins, flint-lock pistols and profanity."

Since Roscoe has retired from the Democratic platform, the Pennsylvania Democrats are luminating themselves at their escape from Hancock, who, had he accepted their nomination, would have been sure to show he was ashamed of their record.

To a handsome little foundling, recently left in the hall-way of a station house in Boston, was attached the following note: "This will certify that this babe was born this 3d day of September, 1869, and is of American parentage. Its mother is a beautiful young girl of 19 years. She cannot keep it herself, and grieves to part with it. Will those who receive this babe report of its whereabouts; and anything concerning it, to the City Marshal of Charleston, from time to time."

ENDORSEMENTS.

OLYMPIA, W. T., March 27, 1869.

C. A. WHITE, Esq.—Dear Sir: Having examined your original map, embracing that portion of Washington Territory west of the Cascade Range, I take pleasure in saying that I consider it the most correct map of the kind yet in print. Having been engaged for a number of years in surveying in that section of country, I have examined this portion of your map more critically than others, and I take pleasure in saying it is generally correct.

This map will, I am sure, meet with not only among the residents of this Territory, but others, who are desirous of obtaining information of this portion of the "Far West," and I trust that we shall soon see it in a form suitable for general distribution.

JAS. S. LAWSON,
Asst. U. S. C. S.

We endorse the annexed opinion of Jas. S. Lawson, Esq., and will add that Mr. Chas. A. White is a practical Surveyor, and has had access to the township maps in the Land Offices in this Territory, as also the Coast Survey charts; and we can vouch for his map of Washington Territory, west of the Cascade Range of Mountains, as being correct, and the only good map of the same territory that has been made.
